Introduction

1. I was not interested in reading the preceding introductions, this dislike mainly stems from my knowledge on the topics that were discussed in the paragraphs due to the fact that I have already either studied these topics or have read much about them. The information provided was either common knowledge or stories of personal experience, which did in fact make me lose interest.

Conclusion

1. I was interested in reading the preceding conclusions, because I had a strong liking to these conclusions I was not surprised when I realized that it mainly stems from information they provided rather than their specific minor details expressed about the various topics that were discussed in the paragraphs due to the fact that although I recognized these topics it was very interesting information about these topics. The information provided was very interesting and note-able, which did in fact make me gain interest in these topics.
